A NEW EDITION FOR A NEW ERA

Technology can provide answers, entertainment, and connection. It cannot do the growing for us.

Today's teens are growing up with tools that can think, create, entertain, and communicate for them. This practical, psychology-based guide helps young people strengthen the human capacities that still require experience, effort, relationships, reflection, and practice.

FOR TEENS — AND THE ADULTS HELPING THEM GROW

Parents • Educators • Counselors • Therapists

Help teens build what technology cannot.

The Five Champions give young people a memorable framework for resilience, creativity, empathy, connection, and curiosity — the capacities they will continue to need in an AI-rich world.
